SUMMARY

This report is Book II of a series of books which list radiation exposures of underground nuclear testing participants affiliated with the U.S. Department of Defense (DOD) (including military, DOD civilian, and DOD contractor personnel). This book covers the testing period 1967 through 1974. Participants are listed alphabetically by year and their total beta and gamma exposures per year are shown. Exposures were determined from processed film badges.

Average and maximum total gamma exposures for individuals are listed below by year:

PREFACE

The United States Government conducted 194 nuclear device tests from 1945 through 1958 during atmospheric test series at sites in the United States and in the Atlantic and Pacific Oceans. The United States Army Manhattan Engineer District implemented the testing program in 1945, and its successor agency, the AEC, administered the program from 1947 until testing was suspended by the United States on 1 November 1958.

Of the 194 nuclear device tests conducted, 161 were for weapons related or effects purposes, and 33 were safety experiments. An additional 22 nuclear experiments were conducted from December 1954 to February 1956 in Nevada. These experiments were physics studies using small quantities of fissionable material and conventional explosives.

President Eisenhower had proposed that test ban negotiations begin on 31 October 1958, and had pledged a one-year moratorium on United States testing to commence after the negotiations began. The Conference on Discontinuance of Nuclear Weapons Tests began at Geneva on 31 October 1958; the U.S. moratorium began on 1 November, and the AEC detected the final Soviet nuclear test of their fall series on 3 November 1958. Negotiations continued until May 1960 without final agreement. No nuclear tests were conducted by either nation until 1 September 1961 when the Soviet Union resumed nuclear testing in the atmosphere. The United States began a series of underground tests in Nevada on 15 September 1961, and U.S. atmospheric tests were resumed on 25 April 1962 in the Pacific.

The United States conducted several atmospheric tests in Nevada during July 1962, and the last United States atmospheric nuclear test was in the Pacific on 4 November 1962. The Limited Test Ban Treaty, which prohibited tests in the atmosphere, in outer space, and underwater was signed in Moscow on 5 August 1963. From resumption of United States atmospheric testing on 25 April 1962 until the last atmospheric test on 4 November 1962, 40 weapons related and weapons effects tests were conducted as part of the Pacific and Nevada atmospheric test operations. Underground tests, resumed on 15 September 1961, have continued on a year-round basis through the present time.

In 1977, 15 years after atmospheric testing stopped, the Center for Disease Control (CDC)* noted a possible leukemia cluster within the group of soldiers who were present at the SMOKY test event, one of the Nevada tests in the 1957 PLUMBOB test series. After that CDC report, the Veterans Administration (VA) received a number of claims for medical benefits filed by former military personnel who believed their health may have been affected by their participation in the nuclear weapons testing program.

In late 1977, the DOD began a study to provide data for both the CDC and the VA on radiation exposures of DOD military and civilian participants in atmospheric testing. That study has progressed to the point where a number of volumes describing DOD participation in all atmospheric tests have been published by the Defense Nuclear Agency (DNA) as the executive agency for the DOD.

On 20 June 1979, the United States Senate Committee on Veterans' Affairs began hearings on Veterans' Claims for Disabilities from Nuclear Weapons Testing. In addition to requesting and receiving information on DOD personnel participation and radiation exposures during atmospheric testing, the Chairman of the Senate Committee expressed concern regarding exposures of DOD participants in DOD-sponsored and Department of Energy (DOE)* underground test events.

*The Center for Disease Control was part of the U.S. Department of Health, Education, and Welfare (now the U.S. Department of Health and Human Services). It was renamed The Centers for Disease Control on 1 October 1980.

The Chairman requested and received information from the Director, DNA, in an exchange of letters through 15 October 1979 regarding research on underground testing radiation exposures. In early 1980, the DNA initiated a program to acquire and consolidate underground testing radiation exposure data in a set of published volumes similar to the program on atmospheric testing data. This book is one of a series of volumes regarding the participation and radiation exposures of DOD military and civilian personnel in underground nuclear test events.

SERIES OF VOLUMES

Several volumes of this series have discussed DOD-sponsored underground test events, in chronological order, after presenting introductory and general information. The volumes covered all underground test events identified as DOD-sponsored in Announced United States Nuclear Tests, published each year by the DOE Nevada Operations Office, Office of Public Affairs, except events conducted as nuclear test detection experiments where reentries and, subsequently, significant exposure of participants to radiation did not occur.

*The U.S. Department of Energy succeeded the U.S. Energy Research and Development Administration (ERDA) in October 1977. ERDA had succeeded the U.S. Atomic Energy Commission on 19 January 1975.

An additional volume will discuss general participation of DOD personnel in DOE-sponsored underground test events, with specific information on those events which released radioactive effluent to the atmosphere and where exposures of DOD personnel were involved.

A separate set of books will constitute a census volume of DOD personnel and their radiation exposure data. This is the second book of the census volume. It lists radiation exposures of DOD-affiliated participants (including military, DOD civilian, and DOD contractor personnel) in the U.S. underground tests during the period 1968 through 1974. Distribution of this volume will necessarily be limited by provisions of the Privacy Act.

METHODS AND SOURCES USED TO PREPARE THE VOLUMES

Information for these volumes was obtained from several locations. Security-classified documents were researched at Headquarters, DNA, Washington, DC. Additional documents were researched at Field Command, DNA, the Air Force Weapons Laboratory Technical Library, and Sandia National Laboratories in Albuquerque, New Mexico. Most of the radiation measurement data were obtained at the DOE, Nevada Operations Office (DOE/NV), and its support contractor, the Reynolds Electrical & Engineering Company, Inc. (REECo), in Las Vegas, Nevada.

Unclassified records were used to document underground testing activities when possible, but, when necessary, unclassified information was extracted from security-classified documents. Both unclassified and classified documents are cited in the List of References at the end of each volume. Locations of the reference documents also are shown. Copies of most of the unclassified references have been entered in the records of the Coordination and Information Center (CIC), a DOE facility located in Las Vegas, Nevada.

Radiation measurements, exposure data, event data, and off-site reports generally are maintained as hard copy or microfilm at the REECO facilities adjacent to the CIC, or as original hard copy at the Federal Archives and Records Center, Laguna Niguel, California. A master file of all available personnel exposure data for nuclear testing programs on the continent and in the Pacific from 1945 to the present also is maintained by REECO for DOD and DOE. Data for this census volume were obtained from the DOD/DOE Master File.

ORGANIZATION OF THIS VOLUME

A Summary of this book appears before this Preface. It includes the period covered by this book, average individual total gamma exposure for each year, and maximum individual total gamma exposures for each year.

An Introduction following this Preface discusses gamma and tritium and thyroid exposures and methods used to determine these exposures. Information also is given on the film badge and records system.

Each year of testing covered by this volume follows chronologically as a section, with participants listed alphabetically within each year. Total exposures per individual per year are shown.

After the participant exposure sections by year are appendices containing lists of Abbreviations and Acronyms and Organization Codes and Names.

CHAPTER 1

INTRODUCTION

The first United States nuclear detonation designed to be fully contained underground was the RAINIER tunnel event conducted in Nevada on 19 September 1957. This was a weapons related experiment with a relatively low yield of 1.7 kilotons (kt). The second tunnel event was a safety experiment on 22 February 1958 also conducted in Nevada. This experiment, the VENUS event, resulted in a yield less than one ton. These two tests were the beginning of a United States underground program that is currently the only method of testing permitted by treaty.

1.1 HISTORICAL BACKGROUND

While technical conferences between the United States and the Soviet Union on banning nuclear detonation tests continued, and concern regarding further increases in worldwide fallout mounted, a number of nuclear tests were conducted underground during 1958 in Nevada. Prior to the United States testing moratorium, six safety experiments in shafts, five safety experiments in tunnels, and four weapons related tests in tunnels were conducted.

However, radioactive products from several of these tests were not completely contained underground. Containment of nuclear detonations was a new engineering challenge. Fully understanding and solving containment problems would require years of underground testing experience.

When the United States resumed testing 15 September 1961, 32 of the first 33 test events were underground and the other was a cratering experiment with the device emplaced 110 feet below the surface. The DOMINIC I test series in the Pacific and the DOMINIC II test series in Nevada during 1962 were the last atmospheric nuclear detonation tests by the United States.

The commitment of the United States to reduce levels of worldwide fallout by refraining from conducting nuclear tests in the atmosphere, in outer space, and underwater was finalized when the Limited Test Ban Treaty with the Soviet Union was signed on 5 August 1963.

1.2 UNDERGROUND TESTING OBJECTIVES

The majority of United States underground tests have been for weapons related purposes. New designs were tested to improve efficiency and deliverability characteristics of nuclear explosive devices before they entered the military stockpile as components of nuclear weapons.

Safety experiments with nuclear devices were conducted in addition to weapons related tests. These experiments tested nuclear devices by simulating detonation of the conventional high explosives in a manner which might occur in an accident during transportation or storage of weapons.

Weapons effects tests utilized device types equivalent to weapons, or actually to be used in weapons, to determine the effects of weapon detonations on structures, materials, and equipment. The devices generally were provided by one of the weapons testing laboratories. However, the DOD sponsored weapons effects tests, and such tests usually involved greater numbers of participants and were more complex than the other categories of tests previously mentioned.

Effects of shock waves on rock formations, buildings, other structures, materials, and equipment have been tested. Effects of other detonation characteristics such as heat and radiation have been studied in the same manner. The most complex weapons effects tests have been those simulating high altitude detonations by using very large evacuated pipes hundreds of feet in length containing experiments.

1.3 TEST PARTICIPANTS IN THIS VOLUME

DOD-affiliated personnel listed in this volume participated during the testing period 1967 through 1974. There were 157 underground tests during this period, of which 21 were sponsored by DOD and the remainder by the Atomic Energy Commission (AEC). Many of the DOD test participants were not DOD-affiliated personnel and are not listed in this volume. On the other hand, some DOD-affiliated personnel participated in AEC-sponsored tests, and their exposures at these tests are included in this volume.

Activities of DOD-affiliated participants at DOD-sponsored tests covered a broad spectrum from directing the tests, through measurements and experimenting, to support functions. DOD-affiliated participants in AEC-sponsored tests usually were limited to support aircraft personnel, military personnel in the AEC Test Manager's organization, and DOD military and contractor experiments doing similar work to that done during DOD test events.

1.4 DETERMINATION OF EXPOSURE DATA

The primary radiation exposures monitored and recorded for test participants are from gamma and x-radiation. X-rays are the same electromagnetic radiations as radio and television signals or light, except that x-radiation is of much higher energy. X-rays result when high speed negative electrons release energy as they are slowed down near the positively charged nuclei of atoms, or when electrons orbiting the nucleus release energy as they drop into lower energy orbits. Gamma radiation and x-radiation of the same energy are identical except for their origins. Gamma radiation originates in the nuclei of atoms when certain nuclear reactions take place.

Both gamma and x-radiation affect film in film badge dosimeters like light affects bare film. Films are wrapped in packets the same size as dental x-ray packets. Packets have areas covered by one or more metal filters to make the film emulsions respond more evenly to different energy gamma and x-radiations. When the film from a film packet exposed to gamma or x-radiation is developed, the film exhibits a darkening or increased optical density which can be related to the degree of gamma and x-radiation exposure. Other factors, however, can result in darkening of the film emulsion. Light leaks in the packet, pressure damage, excessive heat, and aging are some of the these factors. Almost all damage and environmental effects on film packets cause increased darkening of the developed film emulsion and subsequent overestimates of radiation dose received by the wearer.

Film badges may detect radiation from some luminous dial watches, clocks, and compasses; from uranium colored pottery and dishes; or from television sets if the badges are left near or on these objects for a few days. On the other hand, film badges do not detect very low doses such as those all people receive from natural radioactivity in earth materials and of cosmic origin.

A combination personnel dosimeter and security credential holder was used at NTS beginning in 1966. Figure 1.1 shows an exploded view of this dosimeter. A Du Pont two-component film packet was used in this dosimeter until 1970 when Du Pont no longer manufactured their packet and a Kodak two-component packet was used. This dosimeter had the capability to determine beta radiation exposures in addition to gamma and x-radiation exposures. Thus, exposure records from 1966 forward contain beta exposures.

Other dosimeter types have been used to monitor exposure of the hands, but few of these exposures are recorded for DOD-affiliated participants and such exposures are not included in the census volumes. A very few DOD-participant records reflect doses from internal deposition of radionuclides as determined by analysis of body fluids, direct measurement of radiation from particular body organs, and direct measurement of the whole body with special radiation detection equipment. One whole-body dose from internal deposition of tritium was recorded for 1964, one tritium dose was recorded for 1968, and two thyroid doses from radioiodines were recorded for 1968.

1.5 EXPOSURE RECORDS

This information represents the latest and most accurate exposure data available; however, it is continually being updated and some changes may be expected in the future. To obtain the latest information available before revised copies of this document are published, please consult the Master File of exposure records. A Master File of exposure records for all nuclear weapons and nuclear device testing from 1945 to the present on the continent and in the Pacific is maintained for DOD and DOE at the Las Vegas facilities of REECO. Also maintained at that location are archival source documents which support data in the Master File. Any nuclear test participant may request and obtain a copy of his or her radiation exposure history from the following address:

Underground nuclear testing exposure records listed in these census volumes are annual summaries per individual. Records are listed alphabetically by name for each year. As stated previously, records from 1966 forward will include beta radiation exposures in addition to the gamma and x-radiation exposures included for every year. Also as stated previously, one whole-body tritium dose was listed in the first book (1962-1967) for 1964, and one tritium dose and two radioiodine doses to the thyroid are listed in this book for 1968. To avoid repetition of empty additional columns, these four doses are indicated by asterisks after the names and explained in footnotes at the bottom of the pages.

For comparison purposes, the annual occupational whole-body penetrating radiation exposure guide used at NTS during the exposure periods in these volumes was 5,000 mrem, and the quarterly guide was 3,000 mrem. Falling in this category are doses from gamma and x-radiations and from tritium, which is a weak beta radiation emitter, but which diffuses throughout the body water. The exposure standard for dose to the thyroid was 30,000 mrem per year and 10,000 mrem per quarter in the early underground testing years until it changed to the current 15,000 mrem per year and 5,000 mrem per quarter by 1978. The same standards and changes applied to beta radiation mrem (or mrad) dose to unlimited areas of the skin.

Identification numbers listed in these census volumes from 1962 through 1970 are a combination of military serial numbers (1), social security numbers (2), and "NTS numbers" (3). Starting in 1971 and continuing to the present, only social security numbers are listed. Serial numbers would have been preferred in all cases, but were not available in most NTS records. The "NTS number" was an identification number assigned by NTS security force badge office personnel when a permanent security badge was issued. It later also was used by REECO as an employee number.

The organization codes listed have been standard at NTS since 1961. The organization names, however, have changed in some instances. An individual may find his or her code and accompanying organization name in Appendix A to this census volume. The current organization name is listed, and any previous different organization names for the particular code are listed in parenthesis. Listed in Appendix B are abbreviations and acronyms used in the text. Appendix C is a Glossary of Terms used in the text.

GLOSSARY OF TERMS

Dose	A quantity (measured or accumulated) of ionizing (or nuclear) radiation energy absorbed by a medium, including a person.
Dose Rate	As a general rule, the amount of ionizing (or nuclear) radiation energy that an individual or material would absorb per unit of time. Dose rate is usually expressed as rads (or rems) per hour or multiples or divisions of these units.
Exposure	A measure expressed in roentgens (R) of the ionization produced by gamma rays (or x-rays) in air [or divisions of R; $1/1000$ R = milliroentgen (mR)]. The exposure rate is the exposure per unit of time, usually per hour but sometimes smaller or larger units (e.g., R/min, R/day, mR/h).
Leukemia Cluster	An apparent but unexpected or extraordinary group of leukemia cases within some number or group of persons.
Privacy Act	The Privacy Act of 1974. Public Law 93-579. An Act to amend Title 5, U.S. Code by adding Section 552 to safeguard individual privacy from the misuse of Federal Records, to provide that individuals be granted access to records concerning them which are maintained by federal agencies, to establish a Privacy Protection Study Commission, and for other purposes.

rad	Abbreviation for radiation absorbed dose. A unit of absorbed dose of radiation representing the absorption of 100 ergs of ionizing radiation per gram of absorbing material, including body tissue.
rem	A special unit of biological radiation dose equivalent; the name is derived from the initial letters of the term "roentgen equivalent man or mammal." The number of rem of radiation dose is equal to the number of rads multiplied by the quality factor (QF) and the distribution factor (DF) of the given radiation.
roentgen	A special unit of exposure to gamma (or X-) radiation. It is defined precisely as the quantity of gamma (or X-) rays that, when completely stopped, in air, will produce positive and negative ions with a total charge of 2.58×10^{-4} coulomb in one kilogram of dry air under standard conditions.
X-rays	Electromagnetic radiation produced by electron reactions, as opposed to emission of gamma rays by nuclei. Otherwise high energy x-rays are identical with gamma rays of the same energy.
